

CRIMINAL JUSTICE FOCUS GROUP

Invitation to Contribute to the content of the morning

15th January 2015, 10am – 2pm Inverness

We are facilitating a focused piece of work to share awareness and learning between Police Scotland and the autistic community. The 4 hour session will combine presentations from Police Scotland explaining the procedures they follow when they come into contact with a member of the public. The morning will include contributions (in a variety of formats) from the autistic community to enable sharing of experiences and perspectives.

We would like to invite you to contribute to the event. We are open to ideas regarding how people may wish to contribute and this may include some of the following:

- A verbal presentation of your experience
- A written presentation of your experience
- A poster presentation of your experiences
- A creative presentation of your experience
- Volunteers on the day to help facilitate the discussion

To express an interest in contributing in some way please email:

kb@arghighland.co.uk

Once expressions of interest have been received details of what contributions may look like (e.g. length, time allocation, theme) will be discussed with you individually. All contributions will be considered and we hope that we will be able to create a morning that looks towards the future and explores how we may be able to work together to improve interactions between the local police and the autistic community and their families.
